Apart from increasing the production and productivity of Lentil by the participating farmers another purpose is to inspire other farmers in the adjoining areas to accept these technologies for the betterment of development and sustainability.

Increasing food legumes productions by small farmers to strengthen food and nutrition security through adoption of improved technologies and governance within South-South cooperation are the main aims of the programme.

The impacts will be:

This year Bolpur Manab Jamin with the technical support of Visva Bharati Universtiy provided training to the farmers of 51 villages regarding Lentil cultivation before harvesting of paddy. 642 farmers participated in this programme. 2398 kg of special Variety certified seeds had been distributed. Each farmer got special variety of Foundation and Certified Seeds of Lentil (Subrata, Moitree, PL-6, HUL-57, Asha) to demonstrate this programme.

Nutrition Programme

Bolpur Manab Jamin with the technical and financial support of Shining Eyes e. V. have introduced Nutrition Program in 14 villages (8 villages under Raipur-Supur GP and 6 villages under Ruppur GP) for all children aged 6-36 months, all pregnant women and all lactating women until 6 months after delivery. Dr. Monika Golembiewski member of Shining Eyes e. V. and a team of doctors are with us to look after the health development of the children and their mothers are progressing.

There is evidence that child malnutrition can be prevented if the mothers consume sufficient vitamins, minerals and protein during their pregnancy and lactation period. Also the nutrient requirements of the children need to be covered during this important time until 3 years of age. Any form of under-nutrition during this critical period from pregnancy until the age of 3 years can have long-term health hazard into adulthood. Thus, it is essential that the mother is well nourished before the onset of pregnancy and slowly starts introducing nutritionally adequate semisolid food to the child when it is about 6 month old (after six months of exclusive breastfeeding). In our nutrition programs we want to fulfill this goal by providing sufficient nutrients to pregnant and lactating women and to all children in the village aged 6-36 months.

We are giving training to the mothers to prepare cooked meal which has been designed to fill the nutrient gap of currently applied local recipes on three days a week. Thus twice a week we will prepare a nutritionally modified Halwa made from wheat, dhal, milk, nuts, dates, pumpkin and egg. Once a week we want to prepare a nutritionally enhanced Kechuri prepared with rice, soy bean chunks, a good amount of vegetables and chicken.

The children and pregnant/lactating women are also receiving a micronutrient powder called “TopNutri” which contains important vitamins, minerals and protein in order to fill the micronutrient gap of local family diets.

The children and pregnant/lactating women are also receiving a powder from Sajne Pata (Moringa leaves) mixed with Lal Sak (Amaranthas Tricolored) in order to fill the micronutrient gap of local family diets.

The vitamin tables during the study period of the children and Iron tablets, folic acid tablets are supported to be provided by the Health Care centre for the health development of the children and protect mothers from anemia. This is very important for the healthy development of the child and prevention of anemia. The cooked meals will be provided to all children, pregnant and lactating women who are participating in the program.

Before commencement of the nutrition program, Bolpur Manab Jamin with the technical support of St. Mary’s Mother and Child Care Hospital, Paruldanga have done medical checkups in all the villages. We have assessed the age, weight, length, MUAC and Hb of 380 children and 120 pregnant/lactating women and also of the mothers of the concerned children.

Every month BMJ members are making home visit to all families with children in the nutrition programme. The results are being documented and analyzed.

Our wish is to improve the health and nutritional status of the children and their mothers.

Village Health Checkup Camp

The basic need of a community fulfills when it gets better health services. In rural sector it is observed that the parameter of health is alarming.

Indicating toward this factor Bolpur Manab Jamin felt the need of health service among the rural community and made a linkage with St. Mary’s Child and Mother Care Centre, Paruldanga. Team of Doctors from Germany and India goes to the remote villages with several instrument and gadget such as weight, height, MUAC, Hb measurements for spot checking up of the children and mothers of the respective village. The programme covered 380 children and 120 pregnant/lactating women in 21 tribal villages of Bolpur-Sriniketan Block.

Distribution of free medicine is done if and when required by the villagers. After the check up, if required or in a case of emergency they sent the patient to Hospital with the help of their Ambulance. If needed they also refer them to outstation Hospitals of Suri, Durgapur, Burdwan, Kolkata where the patients get subsidized rate for their treatment.

National Child Labour Programme School

“Any society's future will be only as good as the way it treats and nurtures its children today.” ~ Kailash Satyarthi

(The writer is a child rights activist and recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize for 2014.)

Child labourers are deprived of their fundamental rights - many of them being victims of trafficking, prostitution, forced beggary, illiteracy and subjected to the worst forms of exploitation. In their formative years they miss out on education and then they drift into a vicious circle of illiteracy and poverty.

Our activities focus on providing access to quality education and educational support, to vulnerable children who need special attention and care. We work closely with communities to build awareness on child education.

Bolpur Manab Jamin is running smoothly the NCLP Special School at Hansra (Illambazar) under National Child Labour Programme of Birbhum. The objective of the programme is kept in focus to combat child labour as well as to rehabilitate them in different trade which would make his/her world better.

The children 9 to 14 years especially used to become child labour working in brick field or as a maid servant or working in a tea stall are the pupil of this special school. Each student is getting regular mid-day meal and the allotted stipend of Rs.150 per month. Lessons on vocational training also given to them along with the regular course of study.

Child labour cannot be totally eradicated unless it is supplemented by comprehensive socio-economic programmes and educational uplift of the under privileged sections of the society and by a change in the attitude of the society towards child labour.

In short, the general improvement in socio-economic conditions of people will result in gradual elimination of child labour.

After the industrialization and multifaceted development in India, there appeared a flood of consumer goods and services in the Market, which almost changed the

Education Support Programme: For Immaculate Tomorrow

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.” ~ Nelson Mandela

Education is a process whereby we learn to act in a human, rather than infantile. Through this process we gain culture as part of our personal identity.

There are many challenges of education like children do not have school fees, there is a need to work at young age, text books and school supplies may be scarce, and the government may be forced to attend to other priorities.

In spite of the largest education system in the world, India still faces problems of low levels of literacy achievement and poor quality of education with 37 percent of the population lacking literacy skills and 53 percent of children dropping out at the elementary level.

Textbook Support service is committed to rural students, of SC, ST and economically weaker sections to become effective users of ideas and information by providing them the text books which enlighten their vision. Bolpur Manab Jamin is committed fundamentally to improve the education level of these economically weaker students who are meritorious and have strong desire of learning.
